Charles Redd Center Assistant/Associate Director (Open Rank): Continuing Faculty Status professional faculty track (tenure track equivalent) appointment at Brigham Young University, to begin 2015. PhD or terminal professional degree required. Applications are welcome from candidates whose training and research focus upon Western American Studies in any academic discipline. Responsibilities include promoting the study of the American West through scholarship, including the creation and collection of resources for scholars and students; supervising and mentoring students working on Center projects; teaching a maximum of two courses per year; working with the Center Director and Board to plan and carry out Center activities and programs; and providing professional service and outreach. Candidates with experience in public humanities, oral history or digital history are especially encouraged to apply. Salary commensurate with experience and rank. BYU is an equal opportunity employer. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Potential applicants may visit the University’s web page at http://www.byu.edu. Applicants must apply online https://yjobs.byu.edu and attach a current curriculum vitae. In addition, attach or send letter of application, two writing samples, transcript(s), recent teaching evaluations if available, and three letters of recommendation to the following address: Search Committee, Charles Redd Center, Brigham Young University, 954 SWKT, Provo, UT 84602. Review of applications will begin September 1 and will continue until the position is filled.